

GREAT SOUTHERN

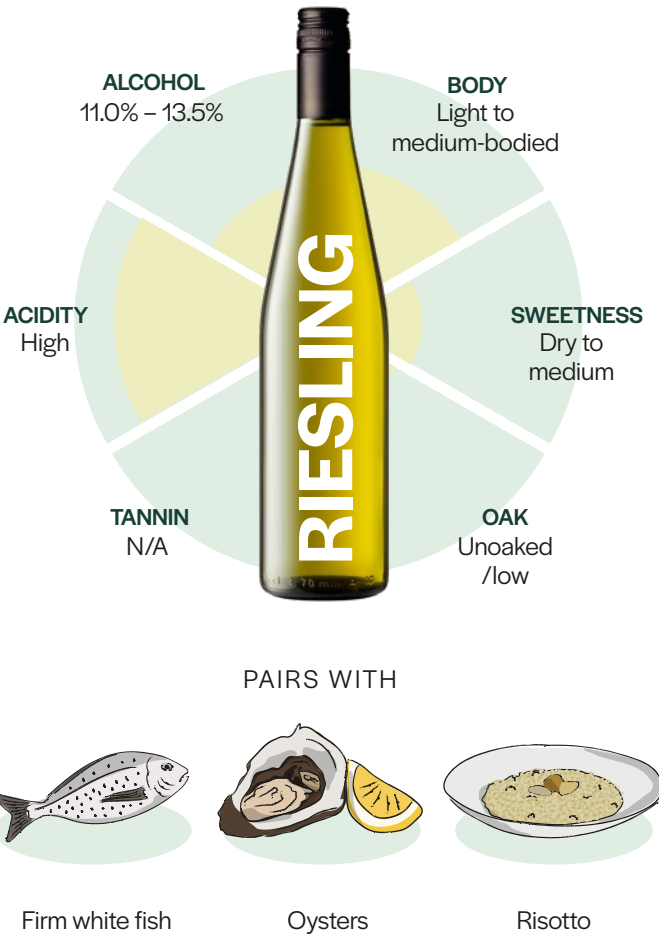

At the very bottom of Western Australia lies Great Southern, Australia’s largest wine region. It is as vast and isolated as it is diverse – a patchwork of coastal maritime land, gently undulating hills, open grazing country, eucalypt forests and granite outcrops, spanning 150 kilometres from north to south and 250 kilometres east to west.

NOTEWORTHY VARIETIES

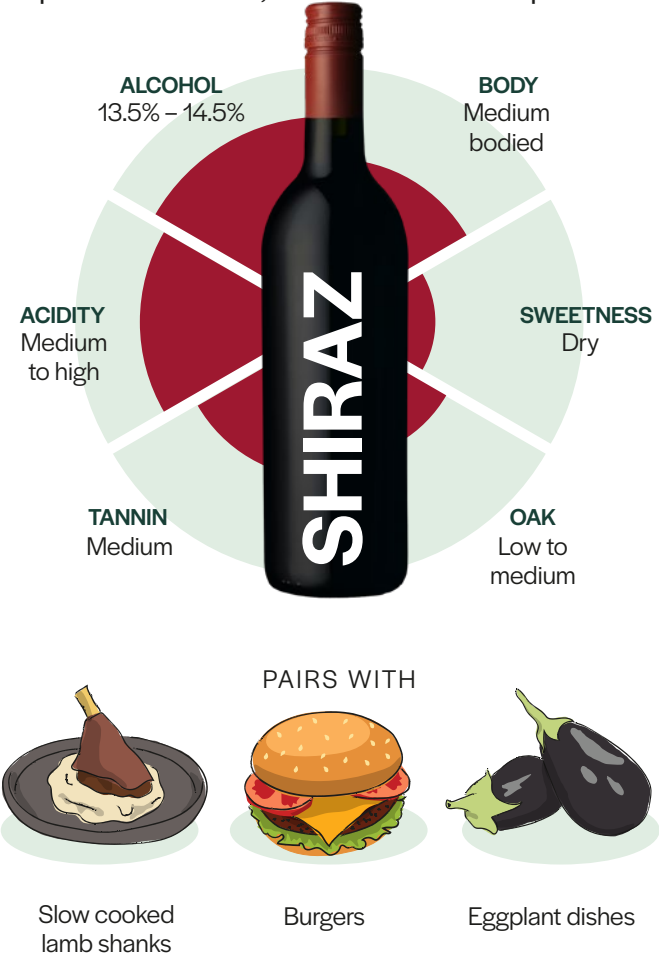

Riesling

Exceptional Rieslings have great intensity, typically in the citrus spectrum with an underlay of herbs and minerals and a great ageing potential.

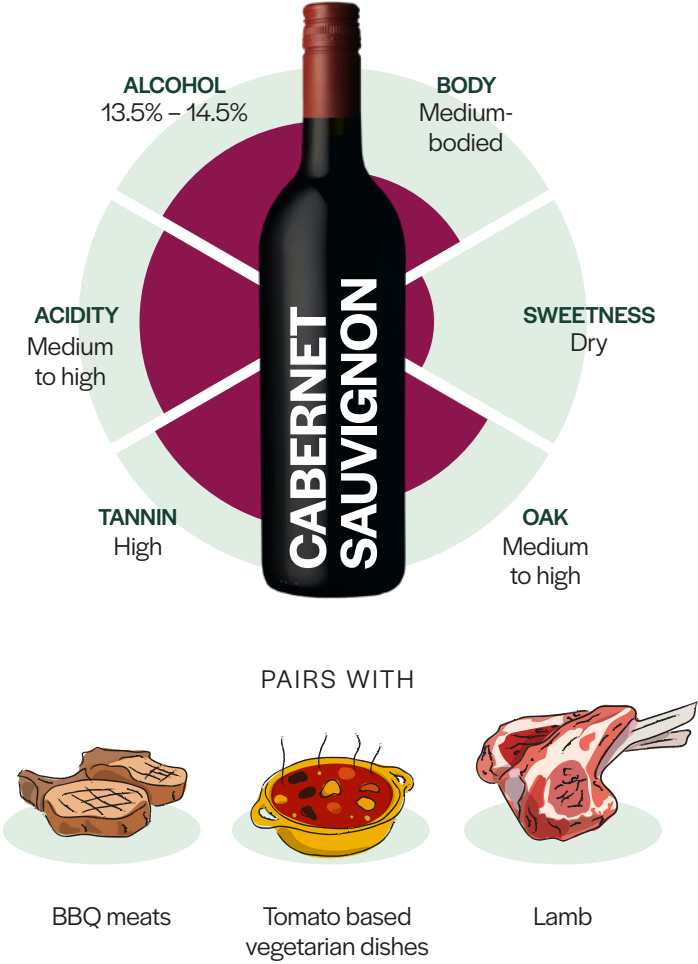

Shiraz

Great Southern’s most widely planted red variety. The wines are complex, silky and medium bodied, displaying characters of blue and black berries, plum, liquorice, spice and florals, with a fine tannin profile.

Cabernet Sauvignon

Deeply coloured, intensely flavoured and powerful. Red, black and blue fruit flavours with bay leaf and dried herb notes and fine tannins giving structure.

GROWING FOCUS

Sustainable vineyard practices are a growing focus, due to demand driven by some of the smaller, new-age producers focused on natural or minimal-intervention wines. Although conventionally farmed vineyards predominate, there are significant players farming organically or biodynamically, with an increasing number in transition.
